

Dear FCC Commissioners & Staff:

I first had DSL service from GTE (Verizon), but cancelled due to extremely poor customer service.

I now have DSL service from IgLou, a local ISP, who gives me wonderful service at a competitive price.

I run a small business from my DSL line including a web site. I could not do this from a Verizon DSL line.

Please consider the value small ISP's like IgLou add to the communications using public.

Sincerely,

John Lewis
